

SHEEPDOG COLLECTIVE, LLC.

A Public Safety Training
& Consulting Company

This three day course is designed for the everyday patrol officer to the advanced operator on the art of breaching. From brick and mortar commercial structures to residential built homes, students will leave this course with the knowledge necessary to make entry under duress, when time is of the essence, and under exigent circumstances.

At the completion of this course, students will understand the material difference between commercial and residential structures, the art of mechanical breaching, non traditional breaching methods, and the mechanics and techniques used to shotgun breach. This class was created from an abundance of backgrounds including fire personnel, patrol officers, narcotics officers, and tactical members with extensive real world experience.

COURSE DATES: JUNE 10-12
